

PROFESSOR and ASSOCIATE PROFESSOR
DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICAL SCIENCES
FACULTY OF SCIENCE

We invite applications for these posts for appointment as soon as possible.

The Department has a strong record of broad interdisciplinary work in its teaching and research, being involved in developing and applying quantitative thinking, in areas ranging from finance and industrial management to ecology and medicine. Most undergraduate students enrolled in the Departmental statistics courses are registered in the Faculty of Commerce.

Applicants may have expertise in any areas of activity in the Statistical and Decision Sciences which will be interpreted as including any of the following fields of interest: • mathematical statistics • experimental design • operations research • geostatistics and spatial statistics • biostatistics • quantitative biodiversity modelling • bioinformatics • and data mining.

Candidates applying at Professorial level should have an established international research profile, leadership experience, and effective teaching and communication skills.

Candidates applying at Associate Professorial level should have an established research reputation, the ability to lead research, and effective teaching and communication skills.

Applicants must have a PhD and should specify the level of post for which they wish to be considered, taking into account the criteria described above. Separate selection processes will address the two levels of appointment.

The annual 2008 remuneration packages, including benefits, are:

Associate Professor: R 464 369
Professor: R 565 951

The 2009 remuneration is currently under review.
